The Jugendstil Genius Gustav Klimt at the KHM and Leopold Museum

KUNSTHISTORISCHES MUSEUM

LEOPOLD MUSEUM

1.1. – 31.12.2012

Start your tour at the magnificent Kunsthistorisches Museum and discover the unique cycle of murals created for the museum's grand staircase by Gustav Klimt together with his brother Ernst and Franz Matsch. These early works from around 1890/91 already clearly show the artist's inclination towards the Symbolism of »Jugendstil«.

Continue your tour at the Leopold Museum, which houses some of Gustav Klimt's most important works, including the large-scale rendering »Death and Life«. This masterpiece reveals something typically Viennese – the peculiar juxtaposition of joy and suffering. Even though the painting's original version of 1911 won Klimt the first prize at the International Art Exhibition in Rome, he altered it several times. The rendering's final version of 1915 can be admired at the Leopold Museum, together with impressive landscapes and portraits by the artist.
